

BATHUKAMMA CELEBRATION The Celebration of Tradition & Happiness

Bathukamma, a vibrant and culturally significant floral festival, is celebrated by women in Telangana and Andhra Pradesh for nine days during Navaratri. To instill the rich traditions, beliefs, and rituals associated with this festival, students of Pre-Primary participated in a joyous celebration at school, adorned in colorful traditional attire. The festivities included the creation of beautifully arranged stacks of seasonal flowers, known as Bathukamma, and lively dance performances by the students. This celebration served as a tribute to the triumph of goodness and an opportunity to nurture cultural awareness among young learners.

GOOD TOUCH, BAD TOUCH

Good touch is safe, bad touch is not!

Our little learners explored the concept of Good Touch and Bad Touch with curiosity, sensitivity, and awareness. They discovered that a good touch makes us feel loved, safe, and cared for – like a warm hug from a family member. In contrast, a bad touch is any touch that feels uncomfortable, confusing, or unsafe. Through engaging activities and meaningful discussions, children learned the importance of setting personal boundaries, confidently saying 'no,' and seeking help from trusted adults whenever needed. We are immensely proud of our young learners for demonstrating courage and self-assurance as they express their emotions and understand their right to a safe environment.

Together, let's continue nurturing an environment where every child feels protected, valued, and empowered to grow with confidence and joy.

TEACHERS' DAY

"A teacher takes a hand, opens a mind, and touches a heart."

Teacher's Day was celebrated with great warmth and joy at school. Pre-primary students expressed their love and gratitude by preparing beautiful greeting cards and a large handmade card adorned with their colorful hand imprints. These tiny hands symbolized their appreciation for the teachers' care and guidance. The activity not only brought smiles to the teachers' faces but also helped the little ones understand the value of showing respect and thankfulness to their mentors.
